

Who We Are

Founded by Rob, a physiotherapist with over 15 years' experience, Path Allied Health provides Occupational Therapy, Speech Pathology, and Physiotherapy across community and disability care.

We support people in their homes or in settings that fit everyday life, taking the time to get to know each person and what matters to them.

We look after people the way we'd want our own families looked after. That includes supporting our clinicians, which helps create steady, consistent care for the people who rely on them.

Learning That Supports Better Care

We place a strong emphasis on continued learning, encouraging clinicians to stay curious, reflective, and engaged in their professional development.

Through Path Connect, our community space for allied health clinicians, we foster shared learning and professional connection. This helps clinicians stay engaged in their practice so participants benefit from thoughtful, up-to-date care.

What You Can Expect From Us

Hear from Our Clients

CRAIG W

“My daughter has been using Path Allied Health, services for years now. Path have helped her increase strength and endurance while maintaining happy and enjoyable sessions which is extremely important in our situation for her ongoing engagement.
She is always looking forward to sessions. Because my daughter is stronger, she supports herself better, assists us more and does not suffer from as many injuries. Her increased independence really shows.
If you are looking for a physio that cares, that genuinely tries to be flexible, that knows his stuff and explains things for others to easily understand, engage Path Allied Health.
My recommendations are not easily obtained, I hold Path Allied Health in very high regard ongoing. Thanks Path Allied Health, keep up the good work.”

MAGGIE M

“Path Allied Health has been working with my son who has cerebral palsy and a mild intellectual disability. Rob has been his physio for several years now and we cannot speak highly enough of him. Rob is not only an excellent physio but achieves client co-operation with his lovely manner and humour. He thinks ‘outside the box’ trying different options to achieve his goal. Rob is respectful of our son and us, prepared to listen to our concerns and come up with solutions. He is reliable, delightful to work with and a great physio.”
